PROCLAMATION + PROTEST

RICHARD COEKIN
PHILLIP JENSEN

'The Ministry Intensive' combined with the Cathedral Spring Convention marks a new and annual event for the training of gospel workers.

The Ministry Intensive is specifically for clergy and full-time ministry workers and aims to feed, sharpen and empower people in ministry by presenting international and renowned speakers on topics that relate to contemporary ministry matters. Those in full-time ministry are constantly being asked to serve others by teaching them the Bible. The Ministry Intensive is a unique opportunity for those in full-time ministry to sit under world class Bible teaching.

The Cathedral Spring Convention follows in the format of the Cathedral Easter Conventions held on Good Friday in Cathedrals around Sydney and Wollongong. The Spring Convention targets the many Christians in churches who are eager to be further equipped and nurtured so that they may expand themselves in ministry – here and abroad.

RICHARD COEKIN

Richard Coekin is the Senior Pastor of 'The Co-Mission Initiative' - a network of Anglican church plants in South-west London.

He has provided dynamic and faithful church leadership sometimes in the face of significant external and internal opposition– most notably the recent revocation of his clergy license due to the irregular ordination of three of his staff.

For three years, Richard had been asking his Bishop to ordain fully trained staff but was denied. The long and grueling debate culminated in the Archbishop of Canterbury reinstating him in June.

We are pleased Richard has accepted our invitation to speak at the inaugural Ministry Intensive and the 2006 Spring Cathedral Convention. We look forward to his careful teaching from the Bible, his advice on multiplying Churches through the growth and training of people, and his reflections on the recent obstacles he has had to face to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

PHILLIP JENSEN

Phillip Jensen is the Dean of Sydney and Director of the Ministry Training and Development Department of the Diocese of Sydney.

Phillip's commitment to expository preaching of the Word of God is renowned both locally and internationally. His experience training men and women in practical ministry skills grounded in excellent theology is well known and respected. His ability to catch the attention of the secular media both in Australia and the United Kingdom regarding his defense of gospel issues makes him a great choice to speak on the topic of Proclamation & Protest.
